Congratulations to our talented and dedicated athletes who proudly represented our school in the first round of the Astley Cup 2017. We came tantalisingly close to a victory in the first round against Bathurst going down 398 to 402 points. What impressed most of all was the grit, determination and commitment of so many of our athletes. Also obvious was the amazing 'school spirit' and support from our spectators, something that makes a principal proud. This week, we look forward to our tie against Dubbo on home turf Thursday and Friday and hope that we come up with a win.

Congratulations to the 36 Orange High Students who travelled to Geurie for the Western Cross Country Trials. It was an amazing performance by all, and exceptional results were achieved in many age groups with an incredible 16 Orange HS students qualifying for the state carnival.

Congratulations to our Tom Kemp Shield under 16s Rugby League Team who defeated Cowra High School in the semi-final 34-10. The team now go on to play Bathurst High School in the final. We wish the boys all the best as they seek further success in the competition.

Congratulations also to our Chess Team comprised of Jarlen Donohue, Lucy Vis-Lowe, Thomas Anderson and Ethan Delaney who won Round Three of the NSW Junior Chess League against Henry Lawson High School in Grenfell this morning. Our score on the first three tables was 2-1 in a very interesting online competition.

To complete an amazingly intense term, next week we also host our annual 'School Show', Creative and Performing Arts extravaganza. There will be shows open to the public on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights next week in the school Performing Arts Centre. This annual event is an uplifting celebration and showcases the talents and skills of 300 of our amazing students and well worth a night out. Tickets are available at the schools Front Office or at the door.

Technology Inservice

Orange High hosted a digital technology workshop run by the Australian Computing Academy on Monday and Tuesday. Primary and secondary teachers from public and private schools attended the workshops to gain resources and an insight into what is needed to implement the new technology curriculum, soon to be taught in all schools across Australia.

The workshops included case studies showcasing existing practice, school-wide scope & sequence, incorporating Australian Curriculum Academy resources and hands on experiences with free, classroom-ready resources that target the Digital Technologies curriculum. The introduction to various programming tools were also available, including visual and text-based programming, and object-oriented approaches. The workshops also explored 'Blockly' and 'Python' programming, covering coding aspects of Years 5-6 and 7-8 curriculum, focusing on defining and decomposing real-world problems, designing algorithms and implementing programs. Feedback from the two days was extremely positive.

In addition to these 2 days the presenters from the Australian Computing Academy are running a student workshop at Orange High for students enrolled in our iSTEM program. This hour long workshop will give them hands on experience and introduce them to different types of programming to create algorithms to run robots and Apps.
